O2–R.APP TRAINING GUIDELINES FOR TRAINING VET TUTORS TESTING PHASE

The research work carried out within the project has produced the definition and the elaboration of the project's second IO "R.APP TRAINING GUIDELINES FOR TRAINING VET TUTORS". The guidelines goal is to define the Apprenticeship VET Tutors Curriculum which will form the basis for a Tutor course aimed at strengthening their competences in promoting and handling apprenticeship's paths.

Il VET Curriculum defines the VET Tutor competences in terms of knowledge, skills, abilities and includes a training programme by specifying timing, methodologies and learning material

At present, the course's Testing Phase has been started by each project's partner, and it is offered to VET Tutors. After ending this Testing Phase, the collected feedback will be analysed. On the basis of this examination, the VET Curriculum will be reviewed to obtain a definitive version by February 2020.

R.APP DISSEMINATION: Annual EFVET International Conference: Ponta Delgada, Azores (PT), 23-25 October 2019

The EFVET Conference 2019, held in Azores (PT), from 23rd till 25th October, has been a great occasion to reach R.APP target groups, disseminate project results and share good practices on Apprenticeship, Digital Learning, Human Capital and Transition from School to Work.

This years’ Conference theme has pointed out, once again, that VET Institutions cannot meet the skills challenges alone. Greater collaboration and engagement with the

These offered REATTIVA (as R.APP Consortium representative to the Conference) the opportunity to share R.APP approaches and methodologies drawn from the 5 EU Consortium Countries together with other European good practice models of engagement and cooperation on WBL and Apprenticeship.
